FUTURA 1975

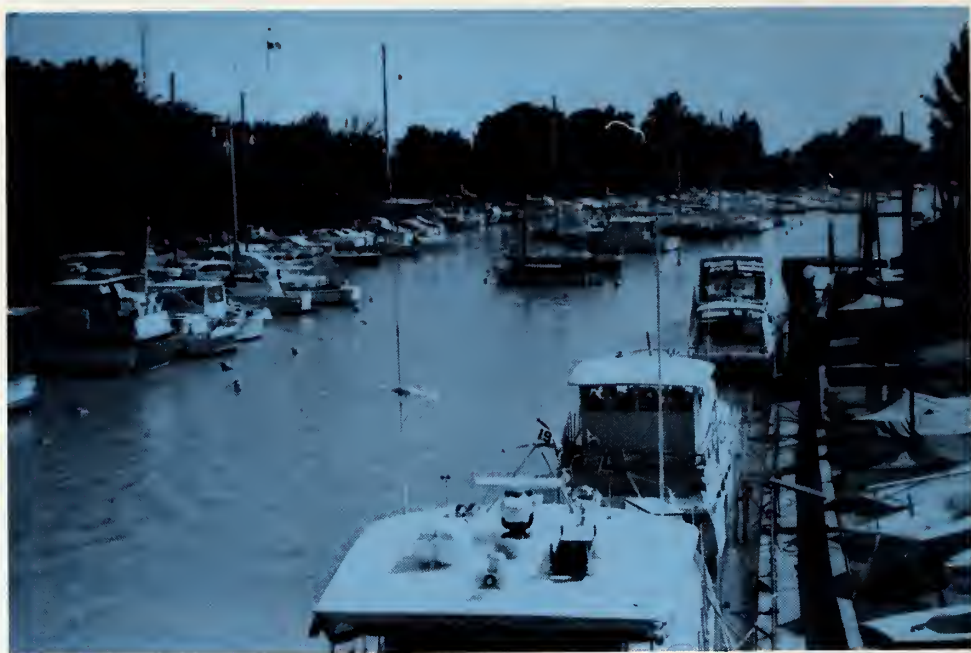

Memories
Like the corners of my mind,
Misty, water-color memories
Of the way we were.

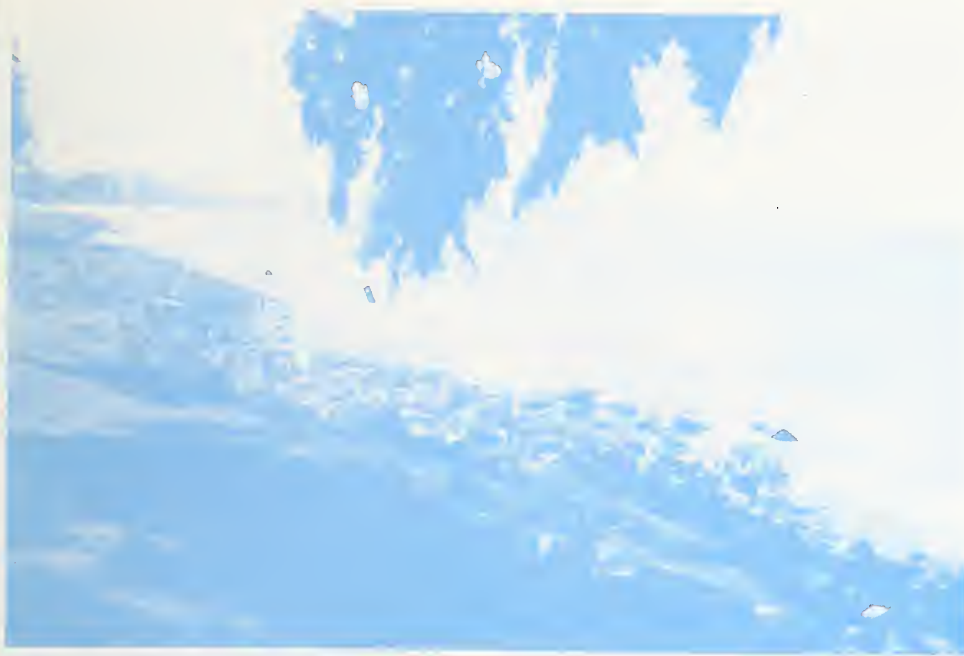

Scattered pictures
of the smiles we left behind.
Smiles we gave to one another,
For the way we were.

Can it be
That it was all so simple then,
Or has time rewritten every line?
If we had the chance to do it all
again,
Tell me, would we?
Could we?

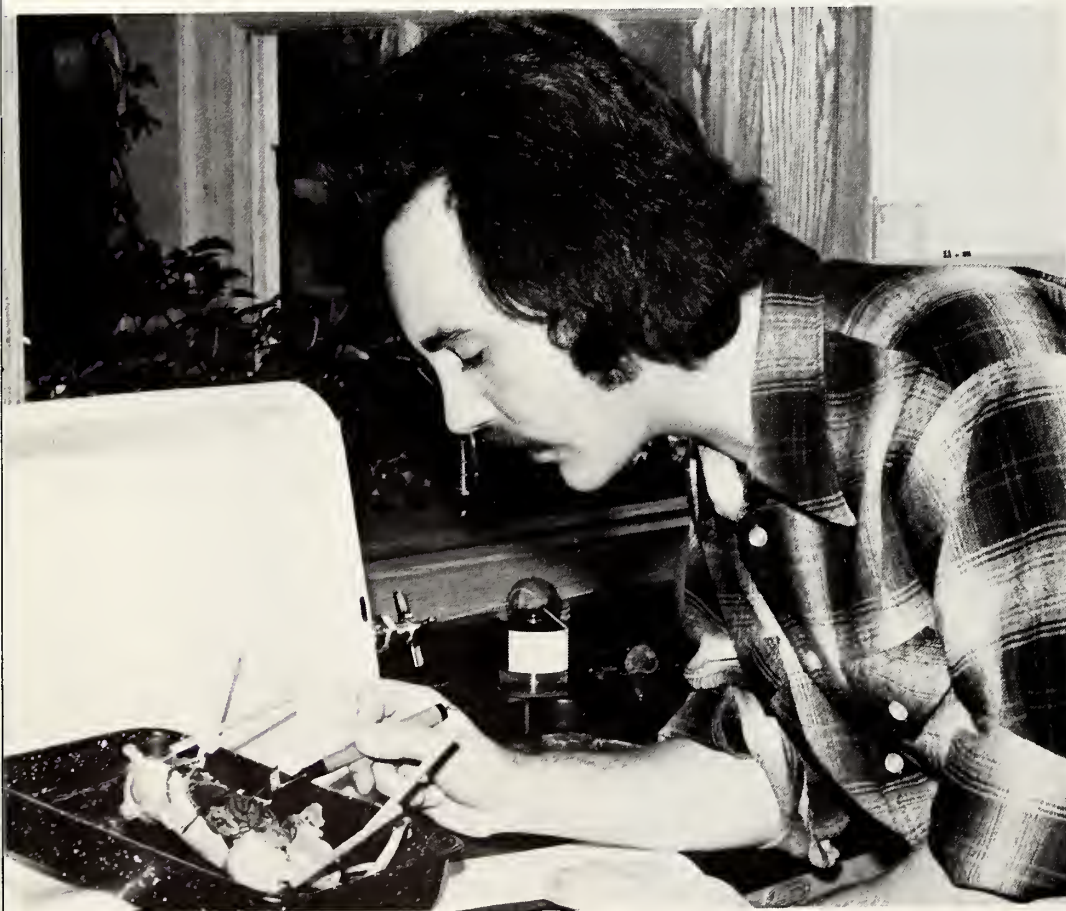

Memories
may be beautiful, and yet,
What's too painful to remember,
We simply choose to forget.
Oh, it's the laughter
We will remember,
When ever we remember,
The way we were . . .

The Rebels, this year as in the past, are playing basketball without the height that would have given us a winning season. But whether the fans know it or not the Rebels are winning in other areas of endeavor besides the score.

This team with its lack of height is one of the finest group of men ever to put on a uniform here at the college. They have to put up with a coach who will not tolerate any nonsense in practice or at ball games and all they get in return is the satisfaction of playing for a college. No financial aid is offered to these men. They are out on that floor playing their hearts out, just for fun.

Other coaches and the officials have the highest praise for the Rebels on their hustle, never giving up, always giving 110%, and a school record of no technical fouls for unsportsmanlike conduct during a game. The coach says, "I myself can't find the words to express the extraordinary effort they have put forth under very adverse conditions. All I can say is that Mr. J and I are very proud of this group who continue to play like they are in the NCAA Finals. This is a team effort and not a one man show. The men have displayed this over and over. Next year I am looking forward to a highly successful season. As Dr. King said, "WE SHALL OVERCOME."

CHEERLEADERS

The NCE Rebel cheerleaders appeared at every basketball game during the October through March season. The squad, composed of five freshmen and three sophomores, was fortunate in having so many loyal fans at each game.

POM PONS

The Pom Pon squad is the group of girls you see out on the floor at the half-time of every game. You know . . . the girls who wear those cute little red jumpers, shake red and white shakers, and give all the fans their fantastic routines and big white smiles. Their main activity outside of practice, is brightening up the time that the team takes to recuperate so they can come back out and continue their great job of scoring baskets.

STUDENT SENATE

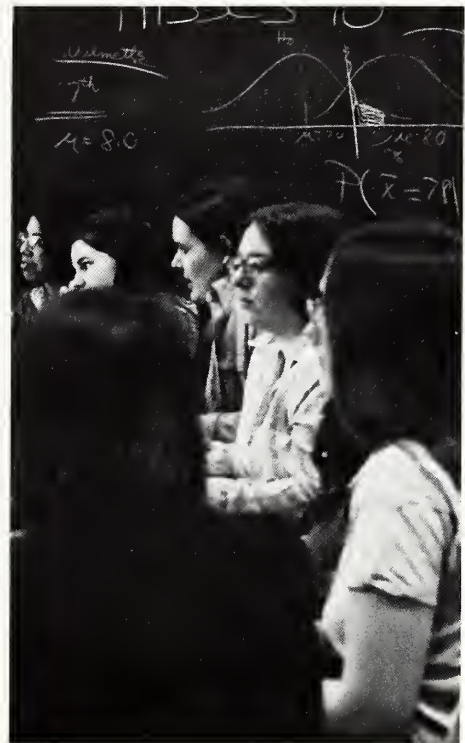

The Student Senate of National College is composed of elected student representatives and faculty advisors. This governing body meets regularly every Tuesday at 4:30 P.M. It is the mediating group between students and faculty and the administration. This group is in control of a portion of the student activities fee and offers this monetary support for organizations on campus that engage in worthwhile activities both on and off campus.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

G.A. is the working body of Student Senate consisting of our 15 clubs and organizations of social, intellectual and cultural involvement. Meeting regularly every Monday, the appointed representatives of the clubs and organizations discuss progress, finances and student programs and activities.

CONCERT CHOIR

The concert singers meet twice weekly throughout each quarter and use these meetings to rehearse musical numbers that are to be performed at concerts. The choir consists of singers who equally enjoy performing. They share in a deep love of giving of themselves through song.

. . . The core of this estatic involvement is Jane Artabasy, the director and enthusiastic leader, who is considered a joy by all those involved.

AMBASSADORS

The Ambassadors is the public relations group of National College. The members work closely with the Admissions Office in hosting prospective students, in giving tours of the school, and generally promoting NCE to outsiders.

W.N.C.E.

Since last year's theft of all the station equipment, WNCE has completely revised its staff, format, and method of operation. Terms like "carrier-current," "Station I.D.," and "tight U.S. loose format" were heard very frequently in the television studio, which is now doubling as a radio broadcast center. Making part-time use of the fabulous new audio equipment, purchased by the media department, WNCE began intense D.J. training programs, and the process of broadcasting was begun.

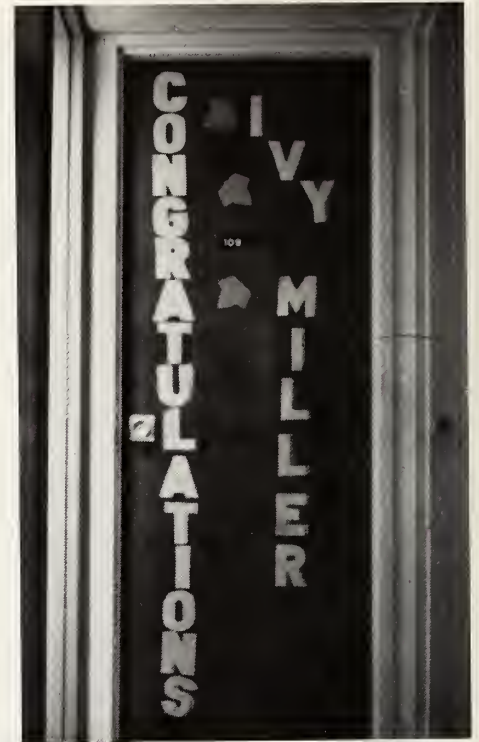

AKA

members

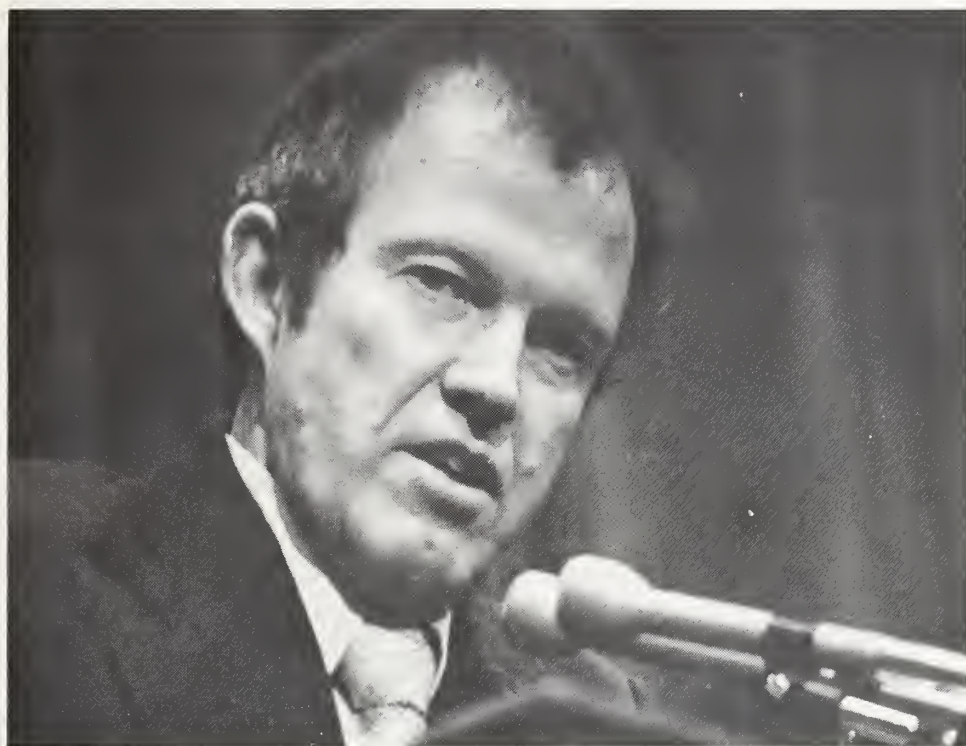

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc. was founded in January of 1908, on the campus of Howard University in Washington, D.C., by nine illustrious young women who found a need for an organization that would represent "Finer Womanhood" and give "Service to all mankind." Iota Epsilon, one of the newer chapters was chartered September 28, 1974 by fourteen of NCE's students. In keeping with the AKA tradition, Iota Epsilon has designed its program of civic and social functions to include the community in which it functions.

DRAMA PRODUCTIONS: '74-'75

Lights, lines, make-up, rehearsals, applause are only part of the Speech-Theatre Department. There is also design, history, television, excercises, film and literature. Some of the experience is before a class, behind the scenes, within a role, part of a team and out there in front. . . . Most of all it's the exploration and blending of the creative and imaginative forces, a togetherness of exciting people and a continuing celebration of life.

DEMONSTRATION SCHOOL

The aim of education should be to teach the child to think
Not what to think

John Dewey

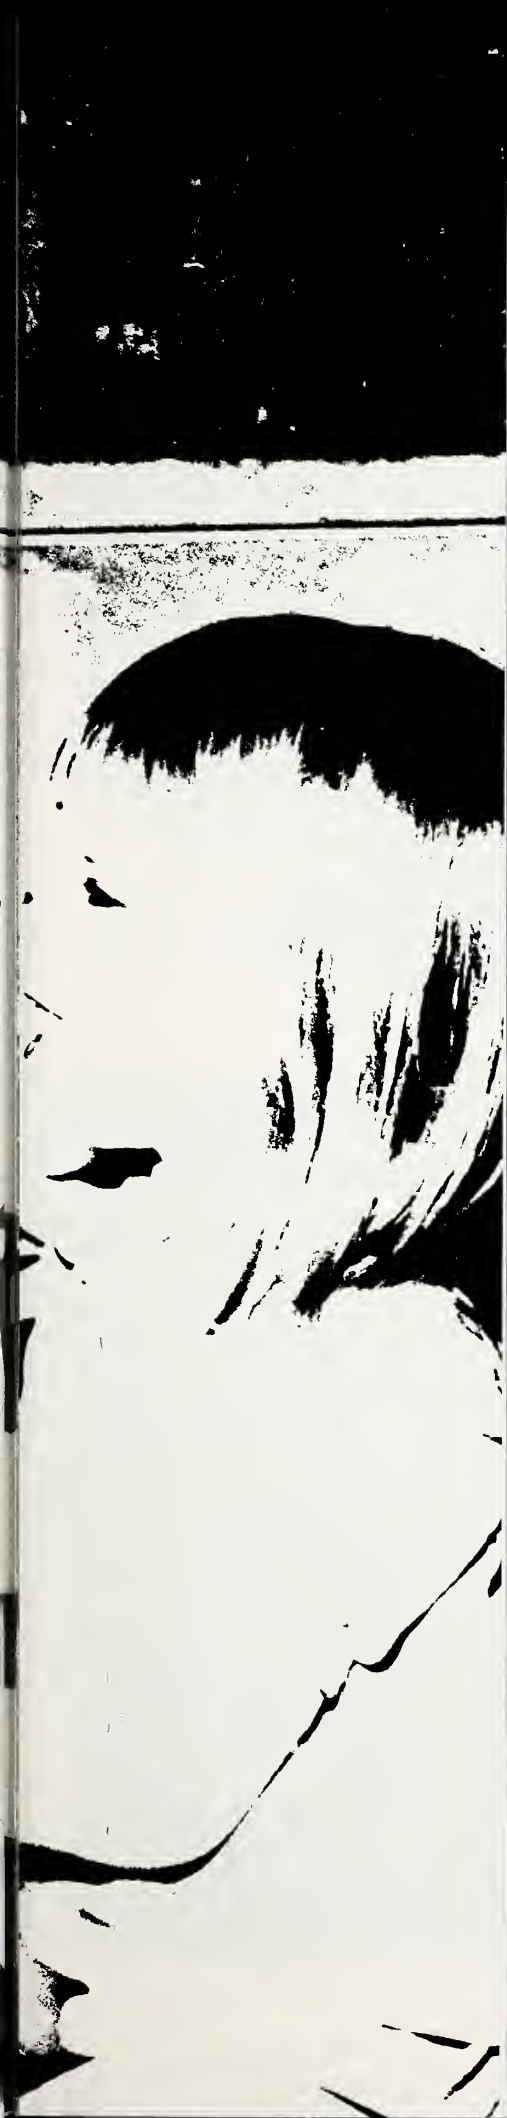

Teachers are privileged to touch and influence hundreds and sometimes thousands of lives.
A little bit of each teacher rubs off on each student who, in turn, is forever different.
That increment of human personality becomes a part of the whole person who receives it.
The recipient then interacts with others and changes their lives.
The process repeats itself in ever-widening circles.

These pages are in memory of Dr. Joyce Dickie, who from 1968 to 1975, was a highly valued and genuinely creative member of the National College faculty. Her commitment to students was contagious. As a responsive, affectionate, and yet demanding teacher she worked tirelessly to balance the expectations of students with the needs of the profession. In addition to teaching, she was responsible for the proposal for the Teacher Renewal in Early Education (TREE) project; serving as its coordinator during 1974-75. As chairman of the Curriculum Council she led in the reorganization of the two-year preprimary program on the Chicago campus. Her presence among us was always a stimulus to rethink what we were about and to become aware of new possibilities.

APPLYING

THEM

Your friend is your needs answered.

He is your field which you sow with love and reap with thanksgiving.

And he is your board and your fireside.

For you come to him with your hunger,
and you seek him for peace.

. . . let your best be for your friend.

If he must know the ebb of your tide,
let him know its flood also.

For what is your friend that you should seek him with hours to kill?

Seek him always with hours to live.

For it is his to fill your need, but not your emptiness.

And in the sweetness of friendship let
there be laughter, and sharing of pleasures.

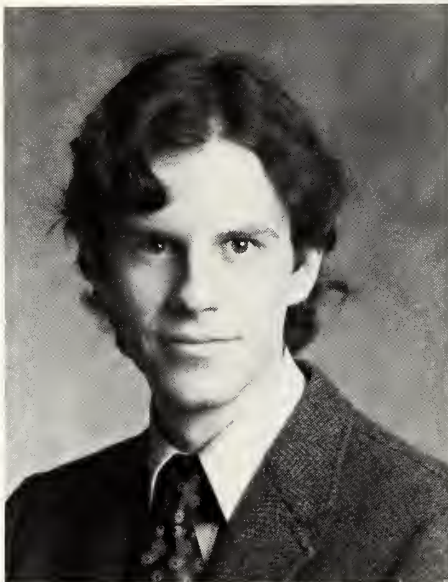

For in the dew of little things the heart
finds its morning and is refreshed.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

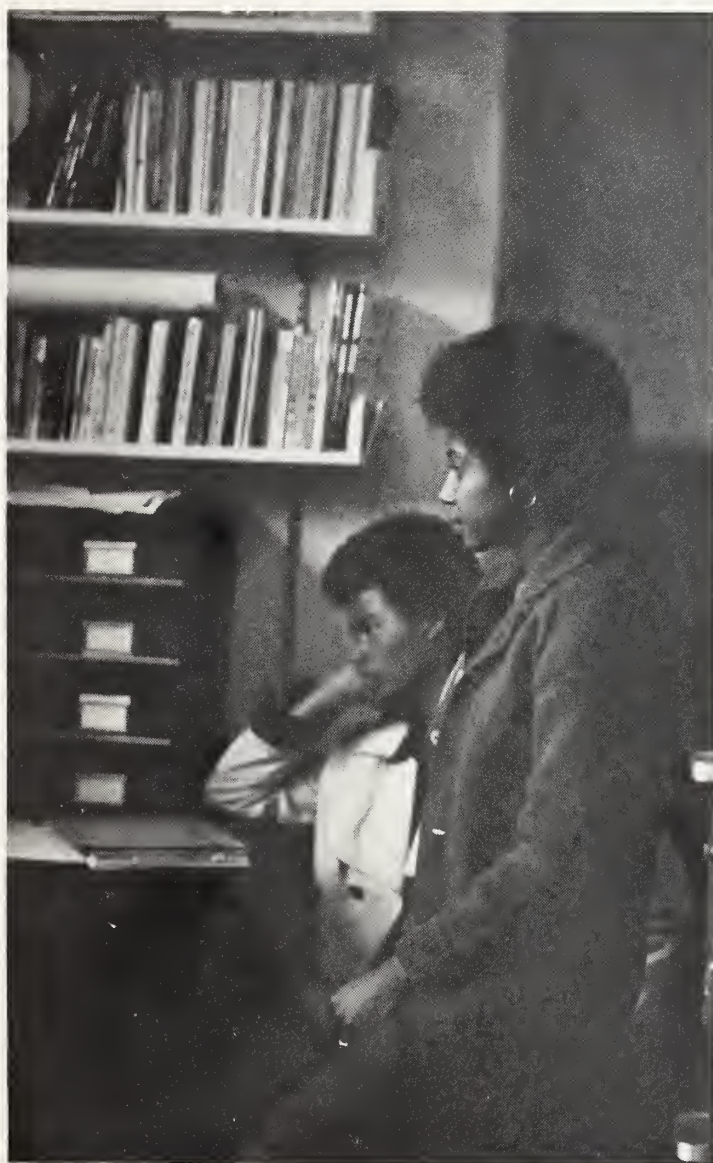

As I encounter new things . . .
 I put away the old . . .
 Placing worn out yesterdays . . .
 Where they will never mold . . .
 Upon the shelf of memory . . .
 I store the dusty past . . .
 Along with other yesteryears . . .
 That faded all too fast . . .
 There is a spot for sadness
 and . . .
 A special place for cheer . . .
 And still another section full
 full . . .
 Of things that I hold dear . . .
 Upon the shelf of memory . . .
 There's always room for
 more . . .
 It's like an endless magic
 place . . .
 Without a ceiling or a floor . . .
 From time to time I delve
 into . . .
 This spot just known to
 me . . .
 That never fails to bring
 me back . . .
 Into the used-to-be . . .
 And so when life seems
 barren . . .
 And filled with only cares . . .
 I search the shelf of memory . . .
 And find happiness there . . .
